Paid In Full

Copyright 2021
The Estate of Barren Hill

They say, “Neither a borrower nor lender be,”
But delusion must give way to reality,
From the day we are born, time ticks away,
To the grave we are headed to death’s assured decay,
Time we all borrow and we can never repay,
Except with our lives as we fade away…